1. Taste of OSU – World Carnival

The Office of International Affairs, along with more than 30 Ohio State student organizations and the Campus Dining Services chefs, are coming together to prepare an evening of international food, desserts and cultural performances for the campus community at Taste of OSU and World Carnival, which is set for Friday, January 25 from 5 p.m. to midnight at the Recreational and Physical Activities Center (RPAC). The event is free and open to all OSU students, faculty, staff, alumni, family and friends. Food tickets cost $1 and the funds are donated to each of the participating student organizations. The majority of the student organizations will prepare foods with an international flavor that are characteristic of their home countries. Go to <http://oia.osu.edu/tasteofosu/> for all the details.

2. Calls to Remembrance, January 29 at Otterbein College and January 30 at OSU.

Please join us for our "Calls to Remembrance". Two cultural commemorations of the World War II internment of Japanese Americans through the lives and writings of Toyo Suyemoto and Lawson Inada.

On January 29 at Otterbein College, Philomathean Room in Towers Hall, 4 p.m., Tuesday January 29
On January 30 at Ohio State University, Frank W. Hale Jr. Black Cultural Center (153 W. 12th Ave.)
11:30 (reception), 12-1:30 (program), Wednesday January 30

JASCO Pulse eNewsletter – January 16, 2008

Toyo Suyemoto (1916-2003), internee and writer, has been described by Lawson Inada as the Japanese American "poet laureate." She had long-term ties to central Ohio and worked for over 20 years at Ohio State University.

Lawson Inada, also an internee and the current poet laureate of Oregon, is a pioneering Asian American author who combines his love of jazz with poetry.

7. Sumi brush painting workshop

Sumi brush painting will be taught at the Upper Arlington Senior Center on Wednesdays from 7pm – 9pm starting January 30 to March 5, 2008. Sumi is a form of painting in which black ink is applied with a brush to absorbent white paper. The brushwork is straightforward as only four basic brush strokes and simple techniques are used. By varying the pressure on the brush and the intensity of the ink, a monochromatic tonality is achieved that expresses emotion as well as captures forms. Students gain greater control of the brush and come to appreciate the beauty of sumi and its simplicity. Weekly lessons include practice for basic brush strokes, handling of white space and practice painting of flowers and animals. A supply list is mailed one week prior to the first class. The cost is $70 for residents of UA and $77 for non-residents. Call Lifelong Learning to register at 614-583-5333.
